Gentlemen:

In talking this morning with Mr. Axmacher of the Photo Gelatine Company he told me that he thought your firm was prepared to do some color plate work which we are contemplating for one of our Monographs. This consists of the reproduction of five Russian decorations, in an edition of about 800 copies. I shall be glad to talk with you or your representative about this matter but because it would be possibly for you to better comprehend what is required if you should come to our Museum and see this material, I suggest that you call me by telephone in order to arrange a meeting at our mutual convenience.

Very truly yours,

Gentlemen:

Sometime ago your representative called here regarding the making of several color plates which we desire for our monographs. Will you have him get in touch with me by telephone and arrange an appointment either on Saturday morning or early next week.

Very truly yours,
